RICE, AGRICULTURAL MARVEL OF THE AGE, FEEDS HALF THE HUMAN RACE.

Its Grains Contain a Larger Amount of Health-Giving Properties Than Any Other Food Product.

WRITTEN FOR THE SUNDAY REPUBLIC. Nearly one-half of the human race lives

It is an indisputable fact that this, the most precious of grains, contains a larger amount of health-giving properties than any other food product. Yet half a century ago this country depended almost entirely upon the Orient for its rice supply.

To-day the United States is growing the grain at the rate of about 300,000,000 pounds The industry has attained a point where importation is practically unnecessary.

The story of this development is a strange and interesting one.

Two hundred years ago the seeds of any cereal not indigenous to American soil were of utmost value to the earliest white set-On a tempestuous night in 1694 an Eng-

The town of Crowley is the center of the industry.
Crowley is surrounded by 125,000 acres of fertile fields, from which a million bags of rice are now marketed annually, at a valuation of $2,000,000.

A few years ago Crowley was waste prairie land, worth about $1.25 an acre.
To-day the well-irrigated fields bring from $40 to $50 an acre and the town has its waterworks and electric light plents.
Doctor J. F. Naftel said to the writer:
"I went to Louisians from Macon County. Illinois, rented twenty-eight acres of land and planted it in Japan seed.

Rice is truly the agricultural marvel of the age. In 1884 a few carloads of it strayed into New Orleans from the regions of Caleu and St. Landry.

They represented sporadic attempts at rice culture on the part of small farmers, who devoted only a few acres each to the production of that special grain.

To-day 300 trains of seventy-five cars each 15.000 explane. It at a cash price covering the cost.

A recent dispatch from Manila stated that the commission had already purchased large quantities of rice, and its distribution would begin at once.

Thirty-six mills are busy six months of the year preparing the new grain for table quire.

The exports, however, fell off from year to year, and finally ceased.

The Philippines no longer export rice, and are, in fact, compelled to import large quantities from Cochin China, Burmah and Slam to make up their own deficiency.

A circular of the Department of Agriculture, issued in 1829, on "The Plant Products of the Philippines," says: "It seems strange that an almost exclusively agricultural country should not produce enough food for its own population, but such is at present the case with regard to the Philip-

REPUBLICANS DECIDE TO CONTEST ELECTION

Defeated Candidates Will Bring Proceedings in Court and Ask for a Recount of the Ballots.

RAISE FUND FOR EXPENSES.

Purpose Is to Uncover Frauds Alleged to Have Been Perpetrated Throughout City at Recent Election.

The Republican candidates defeated at the ecent election have decided to make a general contest of the election of all Demo

This was decided upon at a meeting yesterday afternoon at the Republican City Central headquarters, in the Temple building. All the defeated candidates were presincover frauds alleged to have been perpetrated throughout the city, the election of James J. Butler to Congress from the Twelfth Congressional District, in particular, will be given special attention.

Ever since the election there has been much talk of a contest, but there seemed to be a lack of unanimity among the Republicans, and as a result there has been much delay in getting them together. The individual candidates, it is said, did not feel disposed to make a personal contest of the respective offices, but when it was decided that a contest was purely a party matter and that a general fund should be raised for the purpose it was determined to ask for a recount of the ballots.

The meeting yesterday afternoon was called to order by Judge William Zachritz. Recorder W. H. Hahn was secretary. The object of the meeting was explained by the chairman, and then the matter of contests was generally discussed, the unanimous opinion being that the ballot boxes should be opened in court and the alleged frauds exposed.

In support of this opinion the meeting decided exactions as the contest of the meeting that the ballot have a said to assist to describe the assist to a said the contest of the contest of the meeting that the ballot have a said to a said trated throughout the city, the election of

With these facts as a basis for their prophecy, the future exportations of rice from the South to China liself, as predicted by the great growers of Louisiana and Texas call for the respectful consideration of the North.

With a crop whose minimum output per acre exceeds the Chinese maximum produc-tion, it is possible that the Celestial will in

In support of this opinion the meeting adopted resolutions piedging to assist to the full limit of their power the administration of the law relative to elections.

WILL ASK FOR RECOUNT.

The resolutions declare that the purpose of the contestants is not in any manner to obtain public office for themselves, but to open the ballot boxes and uncover the fraudulent methods said to have been practiced in the recent election and of securing the conviction of all guilty men, regardless of their political affiliations.

To this end a committee of three was appointed to solicit funds, employ counsel and arrange details for the contest.

Becretary Hahn informed a reporter for The Republic that it was decided to keep secret, if possible, the names of the gentlemen who were appointed on the committee, but did not give any particular reason for so doing.

"The candidates," said Recorder Hahn, "will not meet again relative to contests until the committee has perfected all plans for the institution of proceedings and is ready to make its report to the candidates before the suits are filed."

George C. R. Wagoner, who was defeated by James J. Butler for the short term in Congress, has fully determined to carry his content to the limit of the law. He is said to have aiready made arrangements for his counsel and that he will proceed with his contest within a few days. oures:
Out of a possible 3,000,000 acres in Louisiana and Texas alone, as yet only 350,000 are in rice cultivation; that is, there is immense room for further development.

Returns upon the 350,000 acres so planted are as follows: Capital invested, $20,000,000, divided as follows—$7,000,000 in land, $5,000,000 in mills, $7,000,000 in canals, $1,000,000 in walls. The yearly return upon the investment averages about 50 per cent. dictions of economists.

A new staple food must be found by the American.

Deprived of his meat, dairy products transformed into luxuries, vegetables—especially potatoes—steadily rising in price and fruits selling at fabulous figures, the people of the cities must find some new means of nourishment. Centralia, Ill., Nov. 22.-That there is no hypnotism in the fifty-three days' sleep of Miss Dora Meek was established this week when Professor Elmer E. Knowles of Lincoin, Neb., and his assistant, A. Beatrice measure of it equals three of any Knowles, were privileged to make a thorough examination of the case. They used several suggestive and actual forms of hypnotism on the subject, but at no time did she respond. They examined the girl carefully for hypnotic evidences and later announced that, as far as they could ascertain, there was no form of hypnotism visible. The demand will outpace the production, and those vast western and Southwestern tracts of almost desert land to be presently reclaimed through the execution of the new irrigation laws may offer a field from which rice shall be supplied to the American peotain, there was no form of hypnotism visibile.

There had been a feeling among physicians and others who have examined the case that suggestive or self-induced hypnotism was causing the sleep and arrangements for an examination by the authors of a treatise on this subject were made with the approval of all concerned.

Mr. Knowles said his first impression was that she was shamming, but he soon proved to his own satisfaction that such was not the case. Centralia physicians have never thought that, as the girl has been subjected to such severe tests that she could not have resisted. Her physicial condition has kept up in a way that does not savor of shamming, and for thirty-seven days she partook of really no neurishment at all and since then of but very little, but to-day she appears well.

since then of but very little, but to-day she appears well.

She acts very weak, but whether that is due to real weakness or her inability to realize or put forth muscular effort cannet be explained.

The girl how acts as a 3-months-old baby, very sleepy. She will use her hands to brush away files, and when eruptions appear on her face will scratch them until they bleed without seeming to feel any pain.

pear on her face will scratch them until they bleed without seeming to feel any pain.

Joshua Meek, the father, is deluged with letters and offers of cures, most of them with money clauses attached. One man wished to cure her by the "influenced spirit of the celestial sphere." Another wanted them to take the girl to a running stream and duck her. Members of State officials families and other well-known people have offered sympathy. Most of the offers savor of clairvoyance or spiritualism.

An editor of an Illinois paper wrote, suggesting Christian Science. A number of offers, one from a St. Louis capitalist, have the true ring, and offer to send ominent specialists, expense free. Mr. Meek is an old soldier and cannot afford unlimited expense in his efforts, and he may accept some of these offers.

Mr. Knowles says that in his twelve years of public experience he has never found a case so baffling. The girl has none of the symptoms usually seen. Experts who have followed the New York cases say the same. The girl went to sleep September 28, after a quarrel with her sweetheart, and slept soundly for ten days. Since then she has been more or less awake, but never so as to talk. In all this time she has barely talked enough to prove that the muscles are not paralyzed. It is her second sleep, but she was awakened from the first after seven days. She makes no effort to communicate with her parents in any way.
